

CURRICULUM VITAE

Rasmus Sejersten Ripa, MD, DMSc

Date of birth 07-05-1974 in Denmark

Current positions

Chief Physician, Department of Clinical Physiology and Nuclear Medicine, Rigshospitalet
Clinical research Associate Professor in Clinical Physiology and Nuclear Medicine at University of Copenhagen (UCPH).

Education

1994-2001 Medical Degree, University of Copenhagen, Denmark

Dissertation, dr.med. DMSc

2011 Granulocyte-Colony Stimulating Factor Therapy to Induce Neovascularization in Ischemic Heart Disease. University of Copenhagen.

Specialist Certification

2014 Certified Specialist in Clinical Physiology and Nuclear Medicine (Danish National Board of Health).

Postgraduate employments

Shared clinical and research (9 years full time employment)

Department of Clinical Physiology and Nuclear Medicine, Rigshospitalet

Cluster for Molecular Imaging, University of Copenhagen

Department of Clinical Medicine, University of Copenhagen

Clinical (6 years full time employment)

Internship and specialist training at different university hospitals in Copenhagen

Research (7 years full time employment)

Duke University Medical Center, Durham, NC, USA

Department of Cardiology, Rigshospitalet.

Cluster for Molecular Imaging and Department of Clinical Physiology and Nuclear Medicine, Rigshospitalet and University of Copenhagen

Research

- 91 scientific publications, 33 as first or last author. Hirsch factor 28 (Google Scholar juni. 2023).
- >20 lectures at international meetings/conferences
- Coauthor of >50 abstracts at international meetings/conferences
- Regular referee at international journals.
- The Society for Theoretical and Applied Therapy (Selskabet for Teoretisk og Anvendt Terapi). Member of the board since 2017.
- Senior Medical Advisor. Minerva Imaging aps since 2019.

Research supervisor

Mentor on 1 defended DMSc thesis at University of Copenhagen.

Supervisor on 3 defended ph.d. and 5 defended master theses at University of Copenhagen.

Co-supervisor on 4 ongoing ph.d theses.

Relevant courses:

2018: "Seminar on Responsible Conduct of Research for Principal Supervisors". University of Copenhagen.

Teaching

- Pre- and postgraduate teaching of health personnel at University of Copenhagen and University hospitals.

CURRICULUM VITAE

- Director and teacher on MD specialist training courses ("A-kurser") in clinical physiology and nuclear medicine, Danish National Board of Health.
- Co-organizer and teacher on annual ph.d.-symposium: Medical and Molecular Imaging Symposium.

Relevant courses:

2018: Getting started as teacher, University of Copenhagen

2023: "IUP - Introduction to University Pedagogy". University of Copenhagen

Editorial board

2011-2016 Associate editor "BMC Cardiovascular Disorders" (IF 2.1 i 2022)

2020-2021 Section Editor "Frontiers in Endocrinology" (IF 6.1 i 2022)

2019- Member of Editorial Board "Diagnostics" (IF 4.0 i 2022)

Leadership & Management

Relevant positions of trust:

2011-2014 Appointed member of "Dansk Selskab for Klinisk Fysiologi og Nuklearmedicins kursusudvalg" (Committee under Danish Society for Clinical Physiology and Nuclear Medicine)

2016-2017 Appointed member of "Sundhedsstyrelsens arbejdsgruppe vedr. faglige anbefalinger for tværsektorielle forløb for mennesker med hjertesygdom" (Danish Health Authority's working group for patients with heart diseases)

2014-2019 Chairman of the Board Ølstykke Primary School.

2015- Appointed member of "Sundhedsstyrelsens Udvalg for hjertesygdomme" (Danish Health Authority's Committee for Heart Disease)

Relevant courses:

2008-2012 3 courses in leadership and management by the Capital Region

2022 "From professional specialist to personnel manager" by Center for Leadership, Copenhagen